

CHAMPIONS for Christ

About Us

CHAMPIONS (Culpeper Homeschoolers And Mentors Partnering, Instructing, Offering iN Service) for Christ is a Christ-centered cooperative learning organization offering educational and enrichment classes for homeschool high school and middle school students.

- Classes are held one day a week for 32 weeks from September to May—between class meetings, students commit to completing assigned readings and written homework on their own and/or with parent help.
- Students and parents may choose to register only for those CFC classes which fit their personal educational goals—full day enrollment is not required.
- All CFC classes are taught from a biblical worldview.
- CFC is not a private or formal school, but is a ministry dedicated to partnering with homeschool families and godly mentors in providing a cooperative learning environment.
- While chosen with prayerful consideration, mentors are not employees of CFC but are paid for their classes directly by parents.
- CFC classes vary from year to year based on the needs represented within our co-op.
- Member families assist CFC by supporting our Statement of Faith, paying an annual membership fee and performing required service hours.
- CFC is committed to a standard of excellence and promotes fellowship, challenge, structure, accountability, and support for parents and students by offering a graduation, occasional homeschool workshops and special lunches several times per year.

History

CHAMPIONS for Christ held its very first organizational meeting in June of 2010. Birthed out of a vision and desire for bringing encouragement and support to families embracing the call to homeschool through the tough high school years, meetings continued throughout the summer and CHAMPIONS for Christ offered its first classes in September of 2010. The ministry was launched with just a few classes: Spanish, Algebra, Biology, Writing, History, Speech and Debate, and Competitive Speech. There were about 30 students enrolled the first year. CHAMPIONS for Christ is currently in its fourth year, now serving about 85 families (120 students), and offering approximately 49 different classes.
