Katie Schambach Teacher Bio

Ms. Schambach loves science, music, and teaching. Ms. Schambach is very familiar with the Apologia Science program. She has personally taken the following Apologia courses: General Science, Physical Science, Chemistry, Biology, and Physics – complete with experiments & dissection! She confessed, “Biology is my favorite.”

Originally, Ms. Schambach began college seeking a degree in Nursing. While in college, Ms. Schambach took additional courses to become a State Certified CNA, and worked at a local Christian retirement community, providing hands-on Elder Care. But, God turned her heart towards teaching children, and obediently, she began to pursue Elementary Education.

Ms. Schambach is also an accomplished pianist and Suzuki-trained violinist. She studied under Ericka Humbracht and sat in the second violin section of the Judson Orchestra. She has performed violin concerts in many other venues as well. Presently, Ms. Schambach has a private violin studio in her home where she teaches piano and the Suzuki violin method to students of all ages and abilities.

Ms. Schambach enjoys spending free time with her family, and she has been very active as a volunteer with Wayside Cross Ministries and other Children’s Ministries in her church.

Katie Schambach is excited to share her talents with Liberty students! She said, “This opportunity is an answer to prayer.”
