

Vicki Myers

Vicki has been married to her husband, Chris Myers, for 28 years and has homeschooled two children: Ciara (who is now 26 and married) and Benjamin (who is 19, graduated in May 2023, and plays Junior Hockey).

Vicki has an Associate Degrees in: Business, Paralegal Studies, Biblical Studies, and a Bachelor's Degree in Ministerial Applications.

In addition to homeschooling, she has taught at different homeschool co-ops in Wisconsin and Minnesota for the past 14 years. Along with her years of experience and having children with different learning styles (one over-achiever, and one with ADHD & dyslexia), she has extensive experience of teaching students with various learning styles and challenges, She uses a wide variety of teaching methods that can be adapted to whatever style best suits a student (one who struggles to learn or the over-achiever).

In addition to homeschooling and teaching at co-ops, she has also taught community education classes and classes at (C.L.I.M.B.) Bible College.

Vicki's teaching style is creating a judgment free zone to encourage class discussions and student participation.
