Liability Waiver – Covid19

As a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, the participation in group activities in which social distancing is difficult, if not impossible, is likely to result in the increased chance of exposure to the virus, which may increase the likelihood of contracting the disease. This exposure is possible through direct contact with other people, proximity to other people, and contact with surfaces that other people have had contact with. By participating in the activities, you represent that you do not have reason to believe that you have contracted the disease, have not experienced symptoms of the disease, or have been diagnosed with the disease. By participating in this activity, you represent that you have been informed of these risks and voluntarily assume the risks of potential infection of the disease. You also understand that there is the possibility that you may transmit the disease to others, even if you do not show symptoms of the disease. For each of these reasons, you agree to release Evergreen Christian Academy from any liability as a result of any claims, causes of action, or damages, including any costs related to our defense, as a result of your contraction of the COVID-19 infection, should you contract the disease as a result of your participation in the activities. You also agree to indemnify us in the event that a claim or cause of action is made or asserted against us, including any costs related to our defense, by someone else that has contracted the disease as a result of your participation in the activities. To the best of our knowledge, none of our agents has contracted the virus and none display any symptoms.
