

OUR MINISTRY: High Point Home Educators (HPHE) is a Christ-centered home school support group ministering to families in North Carolina. HPHE desires to see parents rediscover their God-given role to educate their children. Our vision would be that through the practical application of God's word and prayer, we would heed His instruction in loving, educating, and equipping our children to the fullest extent of their abilities. HPHE believes that God has given parents the primary responsibility to raise and educate their children. Therefore, HPHE seeks to encourage and assist the parent in this calling through the variety of ways that its individual members enable the group.
