

Drawing OUT THE TRUTH

2015 PARENT PRACTICUM

THE ART OF INQUIRY

Free 3-Day Conference for Parents on Classical, Christian Homeschooling

- What is classical, Christian education?
- What are the benefits of classical, Christian education?
- How can I give my children a classical, Christian education at home?

Join veteran homeschooling parents for three days of encouragement and inspiration as we seek to understand the classical model of education and learn how to apply it in Christian homeschooling. This year we will be digging deeper into exploring science classically and discovering the art of inquiry.

"IT IS THE GLORY OF GOD TO CONCEAL A THING: BUT THE HONOUR OF KINGS IS TO SEARCH OUT A MATTER."

Proverbs 25:2 (NKJ)

Albert Einstein once said, "The more I study science, the more I believe in God." Is your student studying science in a way that draws him or her closer to God? If not, join us as we learn how it is possible. As we work to become mindful of the majestic beauty of creation and the "awesomeness" of the Creator, we will put science into its proper perspective and draw out the truth.

Morning speakers will present practical tools for giving your children a classical, Christian education at home. See the grammar, dialectic, and rhetoric stages of learning in every subject and discover how every subject glorifies God. The second half of the morning will be devoted to understanding how we can teach science classically.

Afternoon facilitators will host question-and-answer forums on homeschooling and further the discussion of teaching science classically.

Get equipped at our on-site bookstore. You will find the resources you need to educate classically and be able to get expert advice from our book representatives.

While you learn, your children learn, too! Affordable day camps are available for students of all ages. Your students are sure to enjoy the group learning environment, whether they are being cared for in our nursery; playing and singing in our play camps; memorizing and drawing God's world in our geo-drawing camps; or learning about language, writing, science, logic, debate, or public speaking in our academic camps for older students. Advance registration for student camps is required. Please register online.
